CALL FOR PAPERS
INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

STATE AIDS, TAXATION AND THE ENERGY SECTOR:
LOOKING FOR A BETTER COORDINATION AND EFFICIENCY

CEU SAN PABLO UNIVERSITY, MADRID

13-14 JUNE 2016
An International Conference will be hosted by CEU San Pablo University on the occasion of the Jean Monnet Project ETSA-CE Energy Taxation and State Aid Control: looking for a better coordination and efficiency.

This Project has been organized by the University Institute for European Studies at CEU San Pablo University, with the support of the Directorate General for Education and Culture of the European Commission. It focuses on the intersection between energy taxation, environmental protection and EU State aid law, pursuing to develop and enrich the current research on environmentally-driven energy taxation with the EU State aid perspective, and analyzing the state of the art on tax incentives.

More information on the Project can be found at this link.

The call for papers covers topics on State Aids and Energy Taxation, including:

- European energy market and the need for tax incentives
- COP21 and multilateral agreements concerning energy taxation
- Comparative law on State aid regulation in the field of energy taxation
- The role of the Polluter Pays Principle in a State aid context
- Interaction between State aids regulation and environmental taxation

Abstracts (no more than 250 words) should be submitted by 31 March 2016. Selected topics will be communicated no later than 15 April 2016. The deadline for the final paper will be 31 May 2016. Selected papers will be discussed at the Conference, and will be published.
