

FACULTEIT RECHTSGELEERDHEID

Vakgroep sociaal recht
Social Law department
Vakgroep sociaal recht
Voldersstraat 3, B-9000 Gent
www.law.UGent.be/social

Ghent University Law School is a leading law school in Belgium, located in the heart of historic Ghent and near to the European and international institutions in Brussels. Its department of Social Law has an international job offering for a full time researcher in European and International Labour and Employment Law.

Academic Assistant - Labour and Employment Law

The department of Social Law has a vacancy for an academic assistant (100% - full time & fully paid), with the following profile and job content:

Profile

- Master in Law;
- Specific knowledge of or interest in Labour and Employment Law in its European (EU) and international dimensions.

Job content

- assisting the department in the teaching of courses (assisting the professor in charge);
- scientific research in preparation of a doctoral degree (under the guidance of a promoter);
- research assistance to a designated professor, on topics of EU and international labour and employment law;
- assisting in the servicing of the department (conferences etc.).

Language requirements

- Fluent proficiency in English (reading & writing) is a must. Toefl or equivalent IELTS score may be required if the track record of the applicant contains insufficient proof of proficiency.
- Proficiency in one or more other EU languages is recommended, but not required.

Application (with motivation letter and CV) and information

Prof. dr. M. De Vos, professor of labour and employment law: marc.devos@ugent.be
+32 9 264 68 47

Candidates can also contact the chairman of the department, prof. dr. P. Humblet - patrick.humblet@ugent.be +32 9 264 68 43