The University of Barcelona offers a training course on forced migrants before the European Course of Human Rights. The course will take place in Barcelona from the 10th to 14th of July 2017 and will provide participants with a solid academic and practical basis on the forced migrants’ human rights protection in international law. The course will offer a unique opportunity to learn from outstanding researchers and professors from different European Universities. In addition, you will discover Barcelona, one of the most vibrant cities in Spain. Professionals in governmental and non-governmental organisations, as well as Master and PhD students are highly invited to apply.

Completion of at least one year of university education and some experience in human rights law is required.
