

LUDWIG-MAXIMILIANS-UNIVERSITÄT
MÜNCHEN

LMUinnovativ
Zentrum für Sprach- und
Literaturwissenschaft

The Munich Center for Language and Literature ("Zentrum für Sprach- und Literaturwissenschaft", Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität) is offering up to 4 doctoral student positions (TV-L E13, 50%, 2,5 years with evaluation after the first year; start of employment April 2009) to work on research projects related to one of the Center's linguistic focuses: "Variation - Kontakt - Wandel" (Linguistics) or "Figuren von Textualität" (Linguistics and Literature). Further information regarding the research done at the Center is available at <http://www.zsl.fak13.lmu.de>.

The doctoral students participate in the International Doctoral Programme in Linguistics "Language Theory and Applied Linguistics". Further information regarding the Doctoral Programme is available at <http://www.lipp.lmu.de>.

Application requirements are a university degree graded above average (Magister Artium, diploma, state board examination, Master of Arts ("with thesis"), Maîtrise, Laurea, etc.) in a linguistic subject, very good knowledge of German, working knowledge of English and one other language.

The Munich Center for Language and Linguistics actively promotes the internationalization of postgraduate academic education. Therefore, candidates who acquired their degree at a university outside Germany are preferred.

Applications Deadline: 15-Dec-2008

Web Address for Applications: <http://www.lipp.lmu.de/Bewerbung>

Contact Information:

Dr. Caroline Trautmann
trautmann@lipp.lmu.de