COLLOQUIUM

CITIZENS’ RIGHTS AND EUROPEAN UNION LAW

University of Barcelona
20th April 2018

CALL FOR PAPERS

The Jean Monnet Chair on European Private Law at the University of Barcelona welcomes papers to the Colloquium ‘Citizens’ Rights and European Union Law’, which will be held at the Faculty of Law, University of Barcelona, on the 20th of April 2018, from 9.30 am to 5 pm. In addition to scholarly research which looks generally at the impact of Fundamental Freedoms and Directives, Regulations and ECJ Case Law on National Private Law, the Colloquium is particularly interested in papers which explore the impact on European Private Law of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union.

ABSTRACTS

Abstracts of no more than 300 words should be submitted together with your CV to jmonnetdretprivat@ub.edu by 20th March 2018. Successful applicants will be notified by email by 27th March 2018. Knowledge of the Spanish language would be much appreciated as for the evaluation process.

PRESENTATIONS

Each presentation may be either in Spanish or English and will last up to fifteen minutes, followed by debate. The presentations selected may be published on the Working papers collection of the Jean Monnet Chair on Private European Law of the University of Barcelona.

SCHOLARSHIPS for researchers from LERU member universities

The Jean Monnet Chair on European Private Law at the University of Barcelona offers up to 5 scholarships for PhD students coming from any of the universities which are members of LERU, whose paper has been selected. Each scholarship will cover the expenses of two nights at the Residencia Penyafort, conveniently located near the venue.
