- The contents hosted in the institutional repository of the UB and the TDX repository are indexed by other providers through the OAI-PMH protocol (Open Archives Initiative-Protocol for Metadata Harvesting) increasing their visibility and search.

2) GUIDELINES FOR CHOOSING THE MODALITY OF COPYRIGHT DEFENSE

Every AUTHOR of a THESIS has some intellectual property rights over it, which he can exercise in the way he deems appropriate to defend his interests. When authorizing the dissemination of the THESIS through the digital repository of the UB and the TDX consortium repository, the AUTHOR can choose between one of these modalities:

1. "With all rights reserved". Any person who wishes to make eventual use of the THESIS must request express permission from the AUTHOR, except in the cases provided for by Law (such as private copying or the right to quote).
2. Reserving only a part of the rights through a Creative Commons license. It is a licensing system widely disseminated internationally and that allows the reproduction, distribution and public communication of the THESIS, as long as the authorship is acknowledged. By choosing one of these licenses, the AUTHOR allows certain uses without the need for an express request. It is important to note that requesting them is completely free and it is not necessary to register the THESIS in any specific Creative Commons digital repository. On the Creative Commons website (<https://creativecommons.org/share-your-work/>) there is a tutorial program that facilitates the choice of the most appropriate license for the interests of the AUTHOR.

The current licenses are as follows:

If you remix, adapt, or build upon the material, you must license the modified material under identical terms.

— Attribution-Non Commercial-No derivatives (by-nc-nd): This license allows reusers to copy and distribute the material in any medium or format in unadapted form only, for noncommercial purposes only, and only so long as attribution is given to the creator.

— Attribution – Share Alike (by-sa): This license allows reusers to distribute, remix, adapt, and build upon the material in any medium or format, so long as attribution is given to the creator. The license allows for commercial use. If you remix, adapt, or build upon the material, you must license the modified material under identical terms.

— Attribution - No Derivatives (by-nd): This license allows reusers to copy and distribute the material in any medium or format in unadapted form only, and only so long as attribution is given to the creator. The license allows for commercial use.

The choice of any of these possibilities by the AUTHOR will be expressly stated in the authorization document, indicating ONLY ONE of the boxes provided for this purpose.
