

Apply for the PhD in Economics before March 31 to be considered for entry funding

The PhD in Economics offers the opportunity to undertake research in a wide range of fields of economics. The programme has been accredited with Excellence after an exhaustive and rigorous external evaluation by the Catalan University Quality Assurance Agency (AQU), which acknowledges the quality and impact of the research carried out within the PhD framework.

We have collected some of the current opportunities for entry funding for the academic year 2023-2024:

- 2 Scholarships in Economics: more information
- 1 Scholarship in Energy and Environmental Economics: more information
- 1 Scholarship in Urban Economics: more information
- 1 Research Assistant in Development Economics: more information
- 1 Research Assistant in Population and Family Economics: more information
- 1 Research Assistant in Spatial Mobility, Green and Digital Transition: more information

Be reminded that you need to apply for both the PhD programme and the scholarship/RA before 31 March 2023.

Other calls for full scholarships offered by public and private institutions will be published in Autumn 2023 (after you join the PhD programme). Our admissions team works closely with all admitted students who need financial assistance, supporting them to evaluate their options and eligibility, and helping them with scholarship applications.
